GOVERNOR, AIDES MAP NEW WAY TO OUST CALLAHAN

Governor Saltonstall locked himself today in a downtown hotel suite with his "brain trust," and there they were deliberating, it was learned, on whether or not to demand the resignation of Public Works Commissioner William F. Callahan.

The secret meeting resulted from the report of a special commission, thoroughly condemning the Callahan administration but characterized by Callahan in a whip-lash rejoinder — as "prejudiced and biased."

It was steered, Callahan charged, by an "amateur investigator," Chairman Charles P. Howard.

SALTONSTALL'S PROBLEM

The case of Callahan is unquestionably one of the hardest nuts

the Saltonstall administration must crack—if it is cracked—according to political observers.

The public works commissioner has been the repeated target of attempts to oust him and make way for a favored successor, but the hot-shot always has rattled off and dropped harmlessly.

Persistent reports this afternoon, however, from sources close to the Saltonstall administration were

Fine Nick Gaeta, 2 Revere Men $1000

Three fines, totaling $1000, comprised the punishment meted out today to the 11 remaining defendants in the Revere gambling trials, which climaxed a two-year probe touched off by the murder of Louis Gaeta, beach city racketeer.

Gaeta's brother, Nicholas, was assessed a $500 fine, which he paid on the spot. Charles Shuman, another defendant, was fined $450 also paid, and Arthur Habelow was given until Friday to raise payment of a $50 fine. The case against Walter H. Hickey was not pressed.

Charges against Archie Engle, Edward Engel, Arthur Jacobs, Hyman Bernstein, Samuel "the Chinaman" Zarinsky, Pasquale Barrasso, and Andrew Cataldo, who, like the others, were found guilty of maintaining a building to register bets, were placed on file by Judge Allan G. Buttrick.

As Judge Buttrick pronounced sentence, Assistant Attorney General John S. Derham disclosed he would move Friday for sentence of Revere's former mayor, James M. O'Brien, convicted of embezzling $12,000 of city funds while he was Revere's city treasurer.

FINE M'GLUE $1000, YEAR'S PROBATION

Charles H. McGlue, former chairman of the Democratic State Committee, was fined $1000 today in federal court and given a suspended six months' sentence, with probation for a year, for failure to file an income tax return for 1935.

A condition of the probation is that McGlue, who suddenly halted his jury trial last Wednesday and pleaded guilty to the indictment charge, file the 1935 income tax return before July 3 and make arrangements to pay the tax and whatever penalties the government may impose.

According to the federal investigators, his income in 1935 was $34,909.

The amount of his tax plus the amount of the penalties was estimated by tax experts at $3937.98, of which $1683.42 would be penalties and the rest tax.

Tears glistened in the eyes of the Democratic political leader as United States Attorney Edmund J.

Brandon, following a plea for leniency by the defendant's counsel, told the court he could not make a recommendation for sentence because of his friendship for both McGlue and his counsel, former State Auditor Francis X. Hurley.

Assistant C. H. McGlue United States Attorney Henry M. Leen, who prosecuted, told Judge

Hugh D. McLaughlin that another assistant, Leo M. Leoney, had just returned from Washington and that Attorney-General Frank Murphy had made no recommendation as to sentence, preferring to leave that with the court.

Judge McLaughlin, after a brief consideration of the statements, said:

"I think that a careful consideration of this case leads me to the conclusion that under the particular circumstances here presented the public interest and justice ought to be served by the imposition of a small jail sentence."

"However, I ought to do more for the public interest than sending the defendant to jail."

"Mr. Allen (the court clerk), a fine of $1000 and a jail sentence of six months may be imposed. The jail sentence may be suspended and the defendant put on probation for one year, but that probation is subject to the ordinary conditions—to the conditions that as early as the first Monday in July, the defendant shall file a complete income tax return for the year 1935 and pay such penalty, or make arrangements to pay such penalty to the government for that payment under the taxing law which provides for failure to file an income tax return."

Artist, Girl Tied And Gagged Help Hunt 2 Bandits

A young Somerville commercial artist and his girl companion were held up, then bound and gagged by two gunmen who stole their automobile in Hyde Park today.

Sketches of the holdup men, drawn by the artist whose specialty is painting silhouettes, aided police in their search for suspects.

The gunmen's victims were Paul McCobb, 22, of Mason street, Somerville, employed by a downtown department store, and Iris Berch, 23, of Evelyn street, Mattapan.

According to police, the couple were parked on the new state highway in the Fairmount section of Hyde Park when the bandits appeared. One of the gunmen pointed a pistol and demanded their money. McCobb said he had none.

"All right, we'll take your car then," was the reply.

The bandits tore the strings from McCobb's shoes and used them to bind the couple's hands and feet together. A polo shirt and old sweater, found in the car by the thugs, were bound around the victims' heads as gags.

As soon as the thieves drove away, Miss Berch struggled free and liberated McCobb. Together they went to the Hyde Park police station, where McCobb sketched likenesses of the gunmen.

May Yohe Mate, Smuts, Rewed, Death Discloses

Out of the death of Capt. John A. Smuts, husband of the late May Yohe of musical comedy and Hope diamond fame, came today the revelation that he had married again last December.

May Yohe, who was married in 1914 to Captain Smuts, hero of the Boer War, died last August and Smuts went again to the altar last December 2, according to City Hall records. He married the woman who has been regarded as his housekeeper, the records revealed.

The bride is the former Ethel M. Wood, 37, who lived in Granville street, Dorchester, at the time intentions were filed. Captain Smuts died last Sunday at their home in Columbia road, Dorchester, from heart failure.

Investigation in the City Hall registry of births, marriages and deaths disclosed that the December marriage had occurred between Captain Smuts and Mrs. Wood, a divorcee.

She gave her occupation on the marriage license application as bookkeeper and her birthplace as Boston. Her parents were listed as Artemas R. Wood and Mary Hickey Wood.

Smuts, at that time, stated he was retired, a widower and that this would be his second marriage.

His marriage to May Yohe in 1914 came 20 years after the one-time musical comedy favorite, "toast of two continents," had married Lord Francis Hope of England and had, therefore, become Lady Hope and possessor of the much-publicized "Hope Diamond," which is supposed to bring ill-luck to any possessor.

A claimed echo out of the past came in 1935 when Robert E. Thomas, Hollywood bit player, claimed he was the son of May Yohe and Captain Strong.

In 1937, a New York court referee determined that the then 23-year-old actor was May Yohe's son, as he claimed, but no decision was reached as to the identity of the father.

Following his marriage to the former "toast of two continents," Captain Smuts and his wife appeared in vaudeville on the West Coast, her stage career having waned considerably.

Subsequently they attempted farming ventures in Washington and at one time opened a tea room in New Hampshire. But when May Yohe died last year her role was that of a WPA bookkeeper.

The body is in charge of J. E. Clouthier, undertaker, of Columbia road, and according to the death certificate filed at City Hall, the body was to be cremated later today at Forest Hills Cemetery.

Listed as the "informant" on the death certificate is "Mrs. Ethel Smuts" of the same Columbia road address.

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., June 13—The body of Joan Stevens, 14, coal miner's daughter who was shot "in self-defense" six times by State Police Corporal Benjamin Franklin, was exhumed today while a justice committee of the citizenry retained the star lawyer of the vicinity.

'LIFE AND DEATH' ELOPERS HUNTED IN CAMPS OF N.H.

Massachusetts and New Hampshire police joined today in searching border line camps for the strangely missing Salem honeymooners, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Snow, principals in a "life and death" disappearance.

They were called away "on a matter of life and death," according to a letter left by the comely bride, Virginia Anderson Snow, 29-year-old student nurse.

And today authorities feared their rendezvous well might have been with death as hours passed without a clue to their departure.

Gone now a week, they left behind all their possessions, including still unopened wedding presents.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Arthur W. Snow turned to towns in lower New Hampshire—just north of Haverhill—where both were known to have spent their summers.

They left behind a mysterious note, written in shaky hand apparently by the bride and addressed to her landlady, Mrs. Ella L. Harlin of Fitchburg, N.H., where the couple had engaged a room for light housekeeping.

The couple were married May 20 at Salem. The bride was graduated from Marblehead high school two years ago and a few months later entered Danvers hospital as a student nurse. There she met Snow, who was attendant. Both handed in their resignations May 5.

John F. Malley, state director of the Federal Housing Authority, today reported that 71,486 families in Massachusetts have repaired or modernized their homes under the FHA plan with loans totaling $27,421,768 since the program was started in 1934.

Eye Blacked, F. D., Jr., Says 'Twas a Wasp

NEW YORK, June 12 (INS)—

It wasn't a fight, not a fair one, anyway, which gave Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., son of the President, the black bandage he was wearing over his eye today.

"A wasp got under my guard," he explained when friends asked how the "other fellow" was.

"Sunday afternoon, during the picnic for the King and Queen at my father's estate, I was on my way from the swimming pool when the wasp stung me," he continued.

"It started to hurt and swell and last night it became infected. So the doctor put this Floyd (rubber) sign on me."

Young Roosevelt visited the Stark Club with Miss Molly Peabody of New York and Boston, a friend of his sister-in-law, Mrs. John Roosevelt. There they met Brenda Frazier, the "glorified" debutante, who was accompanied by Bruce Cabot of Hollywood.

Chief Justice Hughes Shows Rapid Gain

WASHINGTON, June 13 (INS)—

"The chief justice has made splendid progress and he is rapidly on the way to full recovery," Supreme Court attaches reported today.

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes was stricken with a stomach ulcer 10 days ago.

The so-called "doll girl" had been buried without an autopsy. Ordering the exhumation, District Attorney Albert Heimbach said:

"We wish to determine if she was mistreated or abused. There are a great many things in this case still unsolved."

When the coffin was raised in Sacred Heart cemetery in nearby Nesquehoning, four physicians began a post mortem examination. Two represented the community.

TELLS OF 'THREAT'

The justice committee, headed by Isadore Riley, commander of the American Legion in Carbon County, retained James C. McReady, leading Summit Hill lawyer.

Joan, who stood 5 feet, 5 inches, and weighed 87 pounds, was killed in the back seat of a car. Corporal Franklin, who is under suspension and $5000 bail on a general homicide charge, stands 6 feet, 1 inch and weighs 230 pounds.

He said he and Patrolman Edward Swaff were in the front seat when Joan pulled a pistol out of her handbag, aimed at him and commanded:

"Drive me to Lansford or I'll blow your damn brains out!" HER "GUN" A TOY

Corporal Franklin ripped out his 32-caliber automatic and fired a shot through the girl's temple and five more through her breast.

Her gun turned out to be a harmless toy. Swaff testified at the coroner's inquest Joan had stepped into their car to "tip them off" in a bank holdup plot and that their meeting with her was by prearrangement.

District Attorney Heimbach, emphasizing he had no evidence of misconduct by Corporal Franklin, said:

"The body was exhumed for autopsy because of a public demand to clear up persisting rumors. It would be unfair to the corporal not to have an autopsy."

"There is absolutely no proof

YOUNG CITIZENS DAY MAY BECOME NATIONAL

Veterans Will Ask Congress Action

A resolution calling upon Congress to set aside one day in the year to be known as "Young Citizens Day," will be introduced at the 40th annual national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to be held in Boston in August, it was announced today.

Fr. Kernan Will Give Talk Here

Rev. Fr. William C. Kernan of Bayonne, N. J., who recently won national recognition for his radio addresses on Americanism, will be one of the speakers Thursday evening at the special Bunker Hill Day observance at the Boston Opera House, Samuel Kalesky, president of the New England division of the American Jewish Congress announced today.

Fr. Kernan, who joins a group of distinguished speakers representing Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths, will have for his topic, "No Peace with Nazis in America."

Other speakers include: Dr. Michael J. Ahern of Western College, Dr. Frederick May Eliot, president of the American Unitarian Association; Dr. Stephen S. Wise, rabbi of the Free Synagogue in New York city, and Professor Arthur N. Holcombe of Harvard.

John J. Maloney, president of the 1940 National Encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Corporation and past Commander of Suffolk County Council praised members of Charlestown post 344 and Bunker Hill Day Celebration Committee for diverting from regular holiday observances to honor the young citizens.

Those that attained the age of 21 during the past year and who are now privileged to exercise the full rights of American citizenship will be the guests of honor.

Following the huge Bunker Hill Day parade Saturday afternoon, Chief Marshal Daniel J. Coughlin has arranged to have the 11,000 marchers assemble at Bunker Hill monument where appropriate exercises will be held for the young men and women of Boston.

Speakers of national, state and city importance will address the gathering. Senator Lodge will be the principal speaker. Also on the program will be Governor Saltonstall, Mayor Tobin, and Congressman Thomas Flaherty, City Councilor William J. Gavin, of the Charlestown district will be chairman.

Several musical units who will participate in the parade, have arranged a musical program for the monument exercises.

Chairman Thomas N. White, of the Bunker Hill Day Celebration Committee has completed arrangements to have a speakers' platform and a public address system set up on the monument grounds.

The "17th" observance officially opens Friday evening with a huge "night before" banquet being staged in Charlestown armory. At midnight a fireworks display will be held in Sullivan square playground.

Several sporting events are scheduled Saturday morning and also a doll carriage parade at Bunker Hill.

The parade in the afternoon which climaxes the annual observance will be dedicated to the "Young Citizens." Chief Marshal Coughlin has arranged a sixth division headed by John J. Rea, parade aide-de-camp and a cadet band in which the young citizens have been invited to march.

Maloney in a letter to the Charlestown post of the V. F. W. relative to the Bunker Hill affair said: "I want to congratulate Charlestown Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for the initiative displayed in arranging the rally for new citizens as a part of the annual Bunker Hill Day observance."

"As members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who served their country overseas in time of war, we should do all in our power to inculcate the true spirit of Americanism into the minds of young men and women who are reaching an age when they will play a prominent part in the future of this country."

"I agree most heartily with the proposed resolution that will be presented at the 40th annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Boston next August, urging that a day be set apart for a national observance of New Citizens Day. I feel certain that our delegates will support such a worthwhile proposal."

Times Sq. Corner Now Duffy Square

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—Times square, faded crossroads of a world of white lights, lost one of its corners today.

Henceforth, the northerly section of the square, between 46th and 47th streets, will be known as Duffy square, in honor of the Rev. Francis P. Duffy, famed World War chaplain whose statue stands there.

DU PONT HERESS BATTLES FOR SON

NEW YORK, June 13 (INS)—Seventeen years ago the heiress, Alicia duPont, thrilled society by her transatlantic elopement.

Today, married for the third time, she again entered the limelight in a court battle against the hero of that elopement for custody of their 15-year-old son.

Branded as a faithless wife by the appellate division, Mrs. Alicia duPont Maddux Glendinning Lewis-Kent, who inherited $4,000,000 from the gunpowder fortune, asked the court of appeals to clear her name and restore the son, Alan, to her.

The appeal is from the Appellate Division ruling last February in which Associate Justice J. Glendon wrote:

"Thus we have a woman who, according to the laws of New York, is living in open . . . (infidelity) . . . in this state, seeking to modify the order entered upon her consent on May 6, 1923."

The court held that the son should remain with the father, Harold Glendinning, Rhodes scholar and lawyer, who while a chemist at the duPont works at Wilmington, Del., met Alicia.

When he won the Rhodes scholarship in 1922 they sailed together for Europe, and were married in London in June.

In 1926 she went to Reno and obtained a divorce. Her married Victor Aubrey Ivor Llewellyn, of the Welsh Guards, in 1933. This marriage was annulled, and in 1936 she married George Ruddle Kent, former member of the Irish Guards.

That same year custody of Alan was given to the father, but a few months ago Mrs. Kent asked that the case be opened. In denying her custody, the court held that the Reno divorce was invalid.

"I am appealing this case to clear my name and for the welfare of my son," said Mrs. Kent. "I cannot understand why my child should be penalized because of a divorce I obtained years ago and which, eminent counsel advised me, was valid."

Mrs. Kent's appeal is based on the fact that when custody of the boy was given to the father Referee Gavegan said that the case might be reopened when the boy was more mature. The mother now claims that Alan prefers to live with her.

Man Who Shot At Duchess Held for Trial

LONDON, June 13 (AP)—Ledwidge Vincent Lawlor, an eccentric middle-aged steel worker, today was ordered held for trial at Old Bailey on charges of firing shots near the Duchess of Kent and into the home of the princess royal.

Prosecutors at his hearing before a magistrate accused him of riding about on a bicycle with a sawed-off rifle near the residences of the British royal family and twice pulling the trigger.

Lawlor, an Australian, contended, however, that he had "no intention of causing any harm."

MOTIVE IS MYSTERY

Specific accusations against him were firing through the window of the Princess Royal, sister of King George and wife of the Earl of Harwood, on June 4, one day later shooting his rifle near the Duchess of Kent, the king's sister-in-law, as she was leaving her Belgrave square home.

The attorney for the defendant said Lawlor was eager to let the public know at the first opportunity that he had no desire or intention of causing harm or injury at either of these places and "had no designs on any member of the royal family at all."

His motive, however, remained a mystery.

The attorney entered a formal plea of innocence for his client, but did not disclose details of the defense.

BULLETS ARE SEIZED

The prosecutor told the magistrate that 21 rounds of ammunition for the sawed-off rifle were found in Lawlor's possession, together with 10 airgun pellets. One thousand more pellets were found at Lawlor's lodgings.

The prosecutor added that the gun permit which he said Lawlor flourished as an excuse for his action in Belgrave square had on the back of it notations of the Belgrave square address of the Kents and the Green street address of the princess royal.

Fugitive 10 Years Jailed in Auto Case

Bought for 16 years and traced through four states by Milton and Quincy police, a convicted drunk-driver who defaulted $100 fine in 1926 was arrested today in Boston.

The defendant, John P. Curtis, 42, of Palmer street, Roxbury, was arraigned in Quincy District Court. When he said he still couldn't pay the $100, plus costs, Judge Kenneth Nash sentenced him to three months in the House of Correction, to work it out.

Holdup of Reporter Jails Bandit 3 Years

Because he attempted to rob a Boston newspaperman—who, incidentally, was broke—Clifford Gray, 27, of Franklin, was sent to state prison for a three to five-year term today.

Sentence was imposed by Judge Frederick W. Fossick in Suffolk Superior court, after the defendant pleaded guilty to attempted robbery of Donald Ross, State House reporter. Gray used a toy pistol in the attempt. Ross told him and pointed him out to a police officer.

F. R. WILL 'DISDAIN' 3D TERM, SAYS LONDON

Declaring the "fantastic financial theories of the New Deal must not be permitted to become a permanent part of our national life," Alfred M. Landon, unsuccessful Republican candidate for President in 1936, today told the Business and Professional Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts at the Hotel Bradford that the President "will disdain" to run for a third term.

"The citizens who are proposing and urging a third term for President Roosevelt will be marked by the future historian as attempting to bring disaster to the Republic," said the former governor of Kansas.

"But there are enough Americans whose hearts are sound to stop them. Here indeed the republic has a rendezvous with destiny."

Representing the Democratic party as "born to pieces, not only by the President's methods and policies, but by threats of a third term," Landon warned, however, that Republicans must not assume "that we can elect anyone we nominate."

The next President's job, if he does it well, will be a hard one to carry through, Landon declared.

"The problem of the next Republican President may well be to prevent normal recovery from becoming a runaway boom," he explained.

The speaker added that, while "the duties of government are different and will continue to be different, regardless of what party is in power," America's days of growth and greatness are not over.

"Why assume that our machinery will never work again simply because it has been working now, under a temporary boss who is constantly throwing monkey wrenches?" he demanded.

Radcliffe Seniors Open Graduation Program Sunday

Commencement week at Radcliffe College begins Sunday with baccalaureate services in the First Congregational Church of Cambridge and will be climaxed June 21 with presentation of degrees in Sanders Theater.

Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving of Trinity Church will preach the baccalaureate sermon.

The Radcliffe alumnae dinner will be held Tuesday night at Hotel Statler, with President Ada Comstock as speaker.

Grenville Clark, a member of the Corporation of Harvard University, will be the commencement orator.

Salem

The degree of bachelor of science in education today was conferred on 128 seniors at the 125th annual commencement exercises at Salem Teachers' College.

Miss Kathryn A. Doyle of New Bedford, a member of the State Advisory Board of Education, awarded degrees, assisted by President Edward A. Sullivan.

Commencement week ends tonight with the senior reception in the college auditorium.

Smith

NORTHAMPTON, June 13.—The unofficial but tremendously important role of a college president's wife was recognized here at commencement exercises with the awarding of an honorary degree of doctor of humane letters to Elizabeth Muser Neilson of Smith College.

Presentation to Mrs. Smith, director of President's House at the college, was made by her husband, William Allan Neilson, who retired today after serving 22 years as Smith president.

St. John's

The 29th annual commencement of St. John's Preparatory School will be held in Danvers Thursday morning with the Rev. John R. Rooney, vice-president of Our Lady of the Elms College, as speaker.

A feature of the exercises will be the presenting of the alumni activity awards and the father and son awards. Those receiving the former will be Neil B. Doherty, president of the class of 1915, Boston textile merchant; Dr. Arthur C. Wilson, 13, Salem dentist, and James V. Prindiville, 21, of the Hartford, Ct., school system.

Receiving the latter will be George J. Ferguson, 12, George J. Ferguson, Jr., 36; Harry F. Nangle, 13 and Robert B. Nangle, 39.

Boston Highs

The first of Boston high school graduations get under way today at Charlestown and Roxbury Memorial High School.

Joseph Lee Jr., a member of the school committee, will present diplomas to 355 girl graduates of Roxbury Memorial High School at 2 this afternoon in Symphony Hall. This evening at 8 o'clock, Dr. Patrick J. Foley of the school board will deliver diplomas to 101 girl and 60 boy graduates of the Charlestown High School in Ford Hall.

B. C. High

While Boston College High School seniors looked forward to receiving diplomas and prize awards culminating four years of pre-college training, Thursday night, members of the three lower classes today were the proud possessors of their recognition for distinguished work during the school year.

At exercises for underclassmen prizes were distributed to those members of the three classes returning to the school next year whose work during the 1938-39 term had been outstanding. Gold medals and other awards were presented by the Rev. Francis L. Archdeacon, S. J., to students who led in the classics, mathematics, modern languages, public speaking and dramatics. Twenty-four students were made members of the Honor Society and were given pins symbolizing the honor.

DEVER FIGHTS PLAN TO DROP OLD COLONY; DOUBTS LOSSES

Frankly skeptical of "reports of enormous losses" in the operation of the Old Colony Railroad, Attorney General Paul A. Dever announced today that he will resist every effort on the part of the road to abandon its passenger service throughout southeastern Massachusetts next Sept. 24.

FIRST EVENING ruined for Marlene Dietrich, shown as she arrived in New York from Hollywood, when she discovered in a night club a woman wearing an evening gown identical with her own. Just recently she acquired her American citizenship.

"The railroad cannot," he said, "enjoy special franchise privileges and shirk the performance of a duty so essential to the public interest."

"No satisfactory legal proof has been adduced that the railroad actually suffered the enormous losses it claims."

ON EVE OF HEARINGS

The Dever statement comes on the eve of the opening of hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington on a reorganization plan submitted by Howard S. Palmer, James Lee Loomis and Harry B. Sawyer, trustees in bankruptcy for the New Haven Railroad.

They are also trustees in bankruptcy for the Old Colony line which they claim, since 1935 has been supported by the New Haven, with resultant operating deficits of $11,000,000.

This deficit, they assert, is a lien against the Old Colony which has precedence even over its mortgage-secured bond issues.

They propose, however, to continue freight service over the lines, while no mention was made in their notification to Governor Saltonstall of the fate of the Boston and Providence, once under lease to the Old Colony, which is also now in bankruptcy, and which owes the New Haven right-of-way to Providence.

DOUBTS BIG LOSSES

The Dever statement declares the railroad was characterized by heavy passengers and added that this "is an obligation imposed upon that railroad. . . . The trustees have displayed very little interest for public convenience and the necessity for the continuance of the passenger service so vital to Massachusetts."

"They have by repetitious statements succeeded in persuading some of our public officials and many of the residents of Massachusetts that the Old Colony is suffering enormous losses."

"The record before the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities is replete with general statements of losses, but it is entirely devoid of any substantial corroborative evidence."

"In the absence of legal proof relating to these alleged losses Massachusetts certainly cannot acquiesce in the proposed abandonment of passenger service."

It has been suggested that the Boston Elevated extend its service to Braintree, serving Quincy and vicinity, and that buses be utilized to serve the remainder of the territory affected.

Malden Brothers Nab Break Suspects

Sergeant John F. McClellan and Patrolman Thomas J. McClellan of Malden, brothers, today arrested two Malden men at gunpoint when the pair were discovered allegedly in the act of trying to force a safe in the Malden Eagles' hall.

The suspects were booked on charges of breaking and entering. They gave their names as Leonard Blok, 34, of Madison street, and Bernard O. Skilleen, 23, of Florence street.

First Baby Pythons Hatched in U. S. Zoo

HERSHEY, Pa., June 13 (AP)—An Indian rock python mothered today what Hershey zoo experts say are the first baby pythons hatched in captivity in America. Triplets emerged from three of 20 eggs laid April 15.

A deliberately set fire, latest in a series of attempts to damage St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Jamaica Plain, swept an outside wall and threatened to destroy the edifice today.

At the same time, seven persons including a 75-year-old woman fled from their homes over a burning store in Ruggles street, Roxbury. All narrowly escaped suffocation by dense smoke, police said.

The shingled rear wall of the St. Peter's Church parish house, attached to the church proper, was ablaze when flames arrived and flames were creeping up the building's low roof.

Police and fire officials detected an odor of kerosene while firemen battled the blaze. Heavy smoke also indicated oil had been splashed on the side of the building and ignited, police said.

Prompt action of firemen confined damage to the wall and roof, saving the wooden church building from almost certain destruction had the fire worked inside. Loss was estimated at $400.

The Rev. Frank H. Stedman, rector of the church, said the blaze was identical to one which was set on the exterior of the church building three years ago.

For several years, the church, located at Paul Gore and Beecher streets, Jamaica Plain, has been repeatedly damaged by vandals, indignant parishioners complained. Last fall 155 panes in parish house windows were smashed by boys.

Seven persons in two Roxbury families were driven from their homes by flames which destroyed the grocery store at Ruggles and Cabot streets. One of those to flee was 75-year-old Mrs. Nora Morrow, who carried her grandson, "Dede" Morrow, to safety.

DR. CUTLER ARRESTED AS TIPS

WORCESTER, June 13 (AP)—Dr. Elliott C. Cutler, identified by police as the chief surgeon of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston, was called upon in district court today to face a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor, but a continuance was arranged until Thursday.

Dr. Cutler was arrested in passing by Millbury last night by Police Chief Fred H. Vutler, who asserted the surgeon's car struck the rear of a parked automobile, slightly injuring three women who were sitting in it. Both cars were damaged.

Dr. Cutler was released from Worcester police headquarters early this morning after he had been held for several hours.

Governor Saltonstall appointed Dr. Cutler last March as one of the trustees of the state infirmary at Tewksbury.

Revere Welfare Chiselers Routed

At the start of the year Revere Welfare Commissioner Fred Buckley publicly announced that he was "out to get welfare chiselers."

Today, he said, the score was an appreciably reduced welfare list, two convictions, five cases awaiting trial and five "conscience" checks payable to the city.

The checks, all received during the past week, total only $46, but according to Buckley the chiselers are on the run.

Of the two convictions, one welfare recipient appealed a six months' jail sentence and the other agreed to make restitution.

The welfare list was reported scaled down considerably despite the fact that 300 WPA workers were thrown out of their jobs following a recent economy drive.

WPA Head Pledges Economies in Relief

WASHINGTON, June 13 (INS)—Colonel F. C. Harrington, WPA administrator, today promised the House WPA investigating committee to effect economies in administration of relief and to overhaul the operations of the controversial arts projects.

Making his first appearance before the committee which has been investigating the WPA for the past six weeks, the colonel condemned testimony presented before it and declared that "much of it was inaccurate and some was obviously unfair."

In a vigorous defense of the present WPA program, Colonel Harrington conceded that there were mistakes to be rectified and improvements to be made, but he asserted that on the whole he believed the program should not be changed fundamentally.

Harrington said that in his personal dealings with the Workers'

Alliance "no improper request has been presented to me by that organization and demand has been made of me as a demand."

Harrington then departed from his prepared statement to assert: "I mean that if a demand were made on me as a demand, it would be refused."

"And if I also may say so, I think my background of thirty years of military service is such that I can sit down with Mr. Lasser (David Lasser, Alliance president) without plotting the overthrow of the government."

France Seeks U. S. Sub Diving Bells

PARIS, June 13 (AP)—The Navy ministry announced today that United States authorities would be asked under what conditions France might acquire four diving bells like that which saved a part of the crew of the submarine Squalus.

When life is all future...

NEATLY, like a blueprint, you and your bride-to-be have it planned—you two who are at that happy crossroads when life is all future. That little home you'll buy when you can afford it. The boy who looks like his dad and the girl with her mother's eyes... How you will grow old together and have a second honeymoon... with all the work and the struggle behind you!

Dreams are right and wise, because for most of us they come true. But if they should not... if that last part of the picture should fail to develop... it need not mean that all the rest of your plans will go to pieces, too.

Happily there's a modern way to make certain that many of your plans will be carried out. Life insurance can carry a family every step of the way toward financial independence—but, for most of us, only one of those steps toward security can be taken at a time.

The first need is enough money to carry your bride through the period of readjustment if she should ever have to face the world without you. You can provide this essential protection, at a cost even a young bridegroom's budget can afford, through a special plan designed for this specific purpose. It is called the John Hancock readjustment plan... and it has the somewhat happier faculty of helping to finance that second honeymoon—if things do work out according to your hopes.

NEW PEACE BIDS MADE IN EUROPE

By the Associated Press

Britain today eyed Moscow and Berlin for reaction to reiterations of willingness to negotiate settlement of Europe's problems.

Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax coupled an indication of that willingness with a restatement of British determination to meet force with force made yesterday in the House of Lords.

Soviet Russia's reaction may determine the fate of British efforts to bring the Soviet Union into a three-power mutual assistance pact with France and Britain.

SEND ENVOY TO MOSCOW

These efforts entered a new phase with the sending of William Strang, British foreign office expert on eastern European affairs, to Moscow as a special envoy to attempt speeding up the negotiations. Strang is to open his Moscow talks tomorrow.

An Editorial in the Communist party newspaper Pravda indicated Russia would continue to insist on a three-power guarantee to Estonia, Latvia and Finland, one of the main points which have held up conclusion of a British-French-Soviet agreement.

The French cabinet met to hear Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet report on the international situation and to approve a shakeup in the high command of the air corps.

AWAIT NAZI REACTION

Bonnet concentrated his report on British-French negotiations with Soviet Russia and Turkey to bring them into the British-French lineup.

Watching for German reaction to the foreign secretary's speech, Britain learned from Adolf Hitler's newspaper Volkische Beobachter that Nazis still considered return of former German colonies necessary before "lasting peace" could be attained.

Reports increased in Rome that Italy was pressing Nationalist Spain for a military alliance.

Italy Limits Tourist Cash

ROME, June 13 (AP)—Italy made it difficult for its citizens to make pleasure trips to the United States, Great Britain and France by tightening up foreign exchange restrictions today.

Italian tourists who wish to visit those countries henceforth will be allowed to take with them only 1000 lire (about $50) in foreign exchange for their expenses abroad. Formerly they were allowed 2500 lire ($125).

Belgium Lets 250 Exiles Enter

BRUSSELS, June 13 (AP)—Temporary havens for half the German-Jewish refugees on board the Hamburg-American liner St. Louis were assured today with decision of the Belgian government to permit landing of 250 of them.

The Netherlands has offered temporary refuge to 200 of the 907 who were denied entry into Cuba and Mexico and are now returning eastward across the Atlantic. In both cases the refugees would be permitted to remain pending their permanent admission to other countries.

INDIANS ASK LAND RETURN

A plea to give "at least a little bit of Massachusetts back to the Indians," was made today before a legislative committee by Chief Yellow Feather of the Wampanoag Tribe, once owners of all the land hereabouts.

The chief, resplendently dressed in tribal costume—in daily life he is the Rev. Leroy C. Perry of the Gay Head Baptist Church, Martha's Vineyard—told the committee he felt Massachusetts had not done right by the red man.

He said the whites ought to be grateful for the friendship the Indians showed them in 1620, when they fed the Pilgrims.

All the Indians ask now, he said, is a little land to call their own where they can entertain visiting Indians.

Conservation Commissioner Ernest J. Dean agreed with him, both for sentimental and economic reasons. He said the Indians had had a raw deal and, furthermore, an Indian community, say in Fall River, would attract the tourist trade.

O'Hara Settles Alimony Debts

PROVIDENCE, June 13.—All financial difficulties between Walter E. O'Hara, founder and former managing director of the Narragansett racetrack, and his divorced wife, Mrs. C. M. O'Hara, are apparently ended, according to attorneys filed in Providence county court today.

Two suits, one for $15,000 and another for $2500, were ended by the notices, which stated that both have been settled out of court. The first is for unpaid alimony, at the rate of $70 a week. The second for alleged non-payment of hospital bills, incurred by Mrs. O'Hara at the Chickadee Springs sanatorium, Colorado Springs, Colo. They were divorced some months ago, when she obtained a decree in Reno.

Shoe Firm Fined $7000 On Wage-Hour Law

The Ascutney Shoe Corporation of Hudson today was fined $7000 by Federal Judge Hugh D. McLaughlin for violation of the wages and hours act—heaviest individual fine thus far imposed under the new law.

Sentence on two other counts of the three-count indictment was withheld until June 28 to give the company opportunity to make wages restitution.

Judge Magruder Takes Bench Oath

Another Harvard University law school professor ascended the federal bench today when former Vice Dean Calvert Magruder took the oath of office as a member of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

The oath was administered by Judge Scott Wilson of Maine, senior justice of the circuit court.

Bare Spain Torture Horror at Red Trial Gets His Stripes Also Bride

BARCELONA, June 13 (AP).—Thirty witnesses told a packed courtroom today stories of torture and madness in tiny, misshapen, crazily-decorated prison cells at the trial of a Yugoslav architect, Alfonso Laurent Cik, 38, accused of constructing the cells for Republican authorities.

The prosecutor demanded death by the garrote for Cik, who pleaded that he had been forced by Spanish Syndicalist leaders to paint the walls of "torture chambers" with weird, big and little, black and white cubes and multi-colored circles, which constantly seemed to change shape before the eyes.

The prosecutor declared scores of Nationalists had been tortured in an effort to gain information of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's military movements.

The cells were built in the Real Monasterio and the Convent de Les San Juanitas in Calle Zarapaza. They were described as hollow cement blocks four feet high and containing a cement chair and bed, built in a slanting position so that it was impossible for a prisoner to sit or lie for more than a minute at a time.

Raised cement blocks were arranged in a crazy-quilt fashion on the floor to prevent prisoners from standing up. The prosecutor charged that the Republicans placed rings in the eyes of prisoners to keep them open in the glare of powerful lights.

Some of the witnesses testified that prisoners were denied food and water and were flogged, sometimes while suspended head down from the ceiling or while ice cold water was showered on them.

Witnesses said the cells were painted with hundreds of yellow diagonal lines, large and small white, red, blue and yellow spots, broad black lines and scores of black and white cubes.

Parolee Seized In Brookline

Captured after a mile chase through private estates and residential streets in Brookline, in which six cruise cars took part and four shots were fired, Edward J. Smith, 26-year-old parolee, was held in 15000 today by Judge Daniel A. Rollins.

Smith, whose police record started in 1922, when he was only nine, was seen in the Longwood section of Brookline yesterday by Policemen George T. Hughes and Detective Nicholas Scalla. They watched him and, finally, they testified, he put on a pair of white gloves after ringing the bell of an apartment from which the owners were absent.

They called upon him to halt. Instead he dived through a narrow aperture and fled. A general alarm was sounded and the neighborhood surrounded. He was trapped in an alleyway.

Smith was released on parole from state prison in April.

Sees No Business Future for Women

EVANSTON, Ill., June 13 (AP).—Dr. Samuel N. Stevens, dean of the University College at Northwestern University today tossed several buckets of academic cold water on career women in business.

Whether she's a college graduate or quits school at the end of the sixth grade there's no future for the average woman in business, Dean Stevens said in an interview, adding:

"Even the brilliant career women who are exceptions prove this rule because in every such case there is some freak explanation." Asked for an example of a "freak" explanation the doctor cited the woman head of a large company who got the job, he said, because she was secretary to the former owner who had no relatives and left her the business. Their own attitude toward life, the dean said, was one of the chief factors operating to keep women out of top-ranking business positions.

"Most women," he asserted, "inevitably look upon business as an interlude between school and marriage. Almost every survey of women graduating from our universities shows that a big majority look forward to a home and family."

"In many ways the nation is still in crisis.

"When in nations in crisis no leadership appears which can restore the crisis, the people become disheartened. They turn to the dangerous and irresponsible who, for the sake of power, offer benefits they cannot deliver.

"I do not think the people will much longer have patience with the nostalgia and the reaction to the powers of corporate business."

SURPRISE COMMANDER

Miss Kate, who was Miss J. L. Allen's first date, also was surprised. "I had a command surprise of the very first kind," she said. "I was in the Grand National in July and had a date with a girl. He asked me to go to the surprise party. I was the 'autumn' of the first show."

Miss J. and Mr. John Stevens are parents of the girl who was taken to court to be held for the night being taken to the surprise party. Stevens has two other girls, Isabel, 17, and Kathleen, 16, and:

"John was so frail a wisp of a fellow that he has buckled her over. The policeman's story sounds strange. I can't believe she knew anything about bank holdups."

A simple way to find the average July 1 to June 30 average daily rainfall, and other information, is to use the following online calculator: <http://www.1000hours.com/PAID/PAID.htm>. Once the data for the 12 months is entered, the calculator will calculate the average rainfall for the 12 months. Once the average rainfall is calculated, the rainfall can be divided by two to find the average rainfall for May 1 to June 30.

From Genoa, Italy, came the first of the new citizens to be sworn in at the court house today. The judge, in a long and eloquent speech, told them that they were now "real Americans" and that they should accept this honor with the greatest of pride and joy, especially with conditions as they are in other parts of the world.

"I trust that each one of you will do your utmost to accept and discharge the duties that you may be called upon to do in the same manner with which you are going to enjoy the full rights and privileges of American citizenship."

IN VISITING the United States and Canada, the King and Queen have had the opportunity to symbolize the natural friendship between the two countries and the governments and peoples of the English-speaking portions of the North American continent.

Their visit affords abundant opportunities better to acquaint themselves regarding the interests and ideals, hopes and dreams of this vast and varied part of the world.

It was, of course, England's wish to be fully informed regarding the needs and interests of the United States as well as of Canada.

At the same time, the King and Queen have seen that the fundamental fault line in the world is the lack of understanding between the two nations. It was that youth was brought up to believe that the future of the world lay in the hands of the United States and that the progress of the Empire, youth should be brought from England and given higher and more advanced education than the progress of the world.

Grandma

NO home is ever quite complete... without a grandma. Kind and sweet... to whom your woes you can confide... knowing she'll always take your side... who never yet was heard to say... "Go, run along—you're in the way."... You don't look for her everywhere... to find her vanished in thin air... Mothers are gentle, patient, kind... but busy, too, you'll often find... On grandmas though, you can depend... to read to you for hours on end...

Undoubtedly you will agree... of laws we have a plethora... But one more law there ought to be... "In every home a grandmamma."

ARCHIBALD MacLEISH
Impudent Answer Quoted

on the floor of the House of being a "fellow traveller" of the Communists. This by a member of the House, elected by the people, and a member of the Dies Committee which has been investigating un-American activities in the country at the direction of Congress.

In reply to this charge, made in Congress, this appointee, Mr. Archibald MacLeish by name, is quoted in the newspapers as making this impudent answer:

"The charge is without basis, as the committee might learn if it would take the trouble to do some reading, but is about on the same level with what it has been doing to this country for some time."

This insulting son of a... A COMMITTEE OF THE UNITED STATES in itself should serve to prevent the confirmation by the Senate of a man who by that act would become for the balance of his natural life THE LIBRARIAN OF CONGRESS. In itself, therefore, it reveals Mr. MacLeish's unworthiness for the post where the President would place him.

IT SO HAPPENS that if Mr. MacLeish were himself better informed, and would do some reading on his own account, he would know that the Dies Committee has performed an act of public service exceptional in the annals of Congress.

He would know that the American people are so solidly behind this investigation which the Dies Committee is making, to expose subversive activities when ever they exist, that the New Deal did not dare use its power over Congress to terminate this investigation, although it longed to do it. The New Deal hates the Dies Committee. So Does Mr. MacLeish, apparently.

Give Father a Sports Jacket

There's nothing more revealing than a man's clothes on his back. Men look very well in them, they exude a power, with anything from a faintly grayish white to the white brown range. In short, you can't go wrong with Dad's wardrobe in the summer time.

Like, for instance, this young and relatively smart outfit (how he'll love the implied compliment of his packing with a colorful over-plaid). It has three leather lures. It also comes in green and blue, and is $12.50. The imported English doeskin trousers are also smart and come with belt to match, in blue, green or camel's hair, $7.50.

You Can Be Beautiful

Cool as a Waterlily

BY ARLINE GOULD

WHEN sidewalks bubble like hot lava and summer heat really gets a grip on you, it's pretty hard to do, unwinding fingers into greasy emollients. You'd just rather let your skin dry out like rice paper in an old Japanese print; the mere idea of oily creams is unsupportable.

That's where a marvelous complexion-cleansing cream which has the cooling and reviving extracts of real, live waterlilies, it comes in.

It's fluffy and white as a snow storm, soft to touch, and wonderful to feel against your fevered flesh.

You'll use it often, if you're wise because it offers additional daytime resistance against moisture-sapping sun and hot winds. Your summertime skin works like a hard all the time, throwing off the heat waste from the pores and the salty, extra layers of perspiration if not removed, give that sallow, anything-but-fresh look.

When you've cleansed with it, a delightful light stuff your skin actually looks thinner and fine more transparently textured.

Discovering Father

By MARTHA LEE

There is a certain amount of discovery that goes on in every marriage. The discovery of the father is one of the most important. It is the discovery of the man who is the head of the household, the man who is the provider for the family, the man who is the protector of the family. It is the discovery of the man who is the father of the children, the man who is the father of the family.

'THE YOUNG MR. LINCOLN'

Abe Flays Star Witness, Calls Him Murderer

THE CROWD packed the courtroom early that second night of the trial. They came with but one thought in mind. If for the first time they saw Matt and Adam Gray sentenced to hang, they would hang on themselves.

As they passed the street, with the Alamy in which had made their last close to the threshold, and saw that other papers trading from the hand of his slave paper, Lincoln heard many murmurings on every hand.

"You thought I was a murderer," he said. "You thought I was a murderer," he said. "You thought I was a murderer," he said.

Analyzing 'Selling' Of King and Queen

When the British government announced that it had decided to sell the King and Queen, it was a move that was widely expected. The British government has been in a difficult position for some time, and the sale of the King and Queen was a move that was widely expected.

There was a great deal of speculation about the sale of the King and Queen. Some people thought that the British government was trying to raise money, while others thought that it was a move to show that the British government was not afraid of the King and Queen.

32 Per Cent of Favorites Win Form Horses in Winner's Circle

SUFFOLK DOWNS has a record of 32 per cent of favorites winning . . . Dave Wilson had the daily double again yesterday . . . Taut and Metauris . . . I played Taut in the mutuels and then came up with grief when I placed the bankroll on Ghost Train in the second race . . . "Spider" Murphy could not resist the races, and was back at the track with a bundle of losing mutuel tickets . . . Just like you and myself.

When Satin Rolls won the third race, it was three favorites in a row . . . Tom Thorp was smiling as he likes to see the form horses come down in front . . . Miss Winnie Walsh, the accomplished telephone operator at the track, told me to wager the family jewels on Satin Rolls . . . Winnie liked the name of the horse . . . Just like a woman.

I got even with Blue Marvel, and paged a taxi and returned to the office . . . Johnny Buckley was on the telephone with the information that Pat Foley was battling Vernon Cormier in Worcester on Friday night, and that Lou Brouillard was going to knock the daylight out of George Abrams in Washington on June 19 . . . Brouillard recently won the duke over Henry Chmielewski in Worcester after a torrid bout . . .

Looks as if Chmielewski will clash with Connie Welsh in Portland in his next start . . . The last meeting between these middleweights resulted in a victory for Chmielewski after a torrid battle.

Nelson Eyes Place on Ryder Team

READING, Pa., June 13 (AP)—Byron Nelson, the new National Open Golf champion, already has his eyes on the Ryder Cup team, but he isn't going to do much about it until well-wishers stop touting to his door and he himself can get used to that big silver cup—symbol of his crown—resting on his mantelpiece.

Nelson's trouble right now is that he's "in a fog."

In fact, he says, things have been pretty hazy generally ever since he reached the home green in the National Open played with Craig Wood and realized that here, at last, was fame.

"I was in a fog on that last hole," Nelson explained for the forty-eighth time last night after returning from Philadelphia.

His living room was packed with friends, autograph hunters, salesmen and sundry others as he spoke—but still they came. And Nelson had to start his story all over with each new arrival.

"Gosh," he exclaimed, finally, "I guess I'm still in a fog. Everything seems to be coming at once, it seems."

He started in again with: "Well, it was the happiest moment of my life," but just then his attractive wife, Louise, tripped to the door to admit more friends and he added:

"No, it wasn't either. The happiest moment was when I married Louise."

"Honestly, my mind was a blank on the home green. I remember starting that last putt, and then all at once there was a crowd around me. The police pushed their way through and pushed some of the mob out of the way. But the radio announcers pushed the police aside, and after they got through others pushed them away and started to pull at my shirt and tried to grab my hand."

"Gosh, imagine me in the middle of all that!"

Stanley Giles, greens chairman of the Reading Country Club, where Nelson has been pro, said he understood the new champion would get himself a business manager soon, so he could give attention to the Ryder Cup team and the Vardon Cup.

Roslindale Plays Saints

ST. ALPHONSE A. A. of Roxbury, after upstaging the 1938 Champion St. Augustine Club last night, goes after the Eastern divisional first place holders tonight at Healy Field where they will be guests of the Roslindale Town Club in the feature of four Boston Park League games.

South Boston will cradle local rivalry at the Stadium where the South Boston Town Club goes to bat against the St. Augustine Club. The Saints will probably call on Thompson who was barely edged by Healy Name last Friday.

WOODERSON CAN RUN ANY PACE, SAYS COACH

PRINCETON, N. J., June 13 (INS)—Nature went in for its absolute masterpiece of irony when it singled out Sydney Wooderson as the "superman" expected to be the four-minute miler.

England's mighty mile is a human paradox.

If anyone pointed out that frail, schoolboyish little fellow with the tortoise shell glasses as the holder of four world's records today, you'd consider it a delectable piece of humor. In a head-on collision with a zephyr, Wooderson would be blown to bits.

LOOKS LIKE CHESS PLAYER

His hands and manners are so delicate that he'd be more readily accepted as a chess player than the man who has run a mile in 4:06.4 the half in 1:49.2, the three-quarters in 2:59.3, and who also holds the world's 800-meter mark, identical with his time for the half.

Within four hours of his arrival on the Normandie, Wooderson worked out on the famous Princeton track where on Saturday in the sixth annual invitation meet he will race the "mile of the century" against Glenn Cunningham, John Woodruff, Charles Fenske, Archie San Romani and Blaine Ridout.

In the opinion of Alfred G. Hill, his coach and double winner for England in the 800 and 1500-meter events at the 1920 Olympics, Wooderson is "the greatest runner of them all."

RUNS ANY PACE

The question was put to Hill why Wooderson, who had never beaten 4:10.8 for the mile since he did it in 1936, suddenly broke out

Byron Nelson Will } Joanna Palfrey Plays
Be Popular Champ } Well at Charles River

-By BILL GRIMES

With the single exception of Tony Manero, Salem, it has been many years since the United States Open has produced a champion with the appeal of Byron Nelson.

During the $12,500 Belmont International Match play Champion-Nelson made a host of friends by virtue of his fine golf and his sportsmanship.

Due to the fact that Belmont invitation was the first major tournament that Byron Nelson ever won, the United States open champion has a warm spot in his heart for this section.

Ralph Goldhamer

Ralph Guldahl, who held the title for two years, didn't have any more gallery appeal than did Denny Shute or Willie Macfarlane, who beat Bobby Jones for the title in a 36-hole play off at Worcester in 1925 . . . Byron Nelson should make a clean up during the next twelve months . . .

To the "Sex Fan," who knows so much about the financial status of the Bees . . . I stated that Bob Quinn controls the Bees and that the club cannot be sold without consulting him . . . As to the assertion that the club "is owned basically by the First National Bank of Boston" my advice to you is to grab one of Mr. Webster's dictionaries and look up the word "basically"

Joanna Palfrey, The Country Club, one of the youngest contestants in the field and Mrs. John Grew, Dedham, the unsuccessful finalist in the state championship last week at Weston, were the only contenders in the Women's Easterns to "four" the first hole at Charles River yesterday.

And, moreover, Miss Palfrey carded the lone deuce at the 9th. . . . Miss Deborah Perry, Tatnuck, "birdied" the 2d hole. Mrs. E. H. Baker, Oakley, "deuced" the 4th. Miss Charlotte Glutting, Rock Springs, C. C. "threeed" the 5th—an eagle—Mrs. H. F. Prunaret, Jr., Charles River, came up with a deuce at the 14th. Mrs. Warren Beard, the state champion, held putts for birdies at the 10th and 15th and Mrs. G. P. Buell, Concord, was the only one in the field to make an eagle at the long 16th.

The best ball of the field yesterday at Charles River was 4-4-4-2-3-3-4-4-2-30-4-3-4-4-2-4-4-3-5-33-66

INLAND FISHING TAKES DROP

By DARK MONTREAL

Poor inland fishing locally because of the hot, bright and still weather showed in the reports for Saturday, Sunday and yesterday. The trout and salmon lay deep and off their feed except in the very early morning and dusk. Striped bass were active and present in the favorite waters but not hitting in their usual voracious style.

Only the tautog fishermen and the off-shore rodmen reported good luck. The hurricane's destruction of fish traps and weirs has apparently given shore fishing a boost just as it has provided unsurpassed breeding grounds for small game, both furred and feathered.

The big pollock stay around and continue to give excellent sport. Gordon Brown and Vernon Childs, trolling metal squid with pork rind strip behind an outboard off the mouth of Ipswich River took a boatload of big fellows. More important, they sighted a big school of tuna chasing small pollock.

Another successful "pollock party" was that aboard George Bentley's "Yankee D." off Nahant. Bentley was host to members of the upland game committee of Massachusetts Fish and Game Association, including Arthur Harlow, Don Rust, Harold Tarr and Paul Bauer.

To borrow a Dave Wilson phrase striped bass fishing in Parker River is "good right now." Two tips came to me from a Parker River bass fisherman who has had excellent results: (1) troll faster than you do elsewhere; (2) use a bucktail lure instead of the spoon or feather jig.

Redskins Sign Wilbur Moore

WASHINGTON, June 13 (INS)—Wilbur Moore, the University of Minnesota's leading ball carrier of the 1938 gridiron season, was signed by the Washington Redskins, pro football champions in 1937.

Moore, who averaged 5.57 yards at halfback for the Gophers, was the ninth draftee to sign a Washington contract and the 20th player signed by the Redskins for the 1939 campaign.

"Boston After Dark," by George Holland, appears every day in the Boston American.

Thomas S. Burgin, Quincy's mayor, and Guide Leon McIntire land 5¼-pound salmon at Lake Mooselookmeguntic.

Charlie Coyle brought Paul & Sanborn in for a visit the other day and I was sorry to miss him because I wanted the secret of his success with blue marlin, of which he has taken several big fellows.

On the double page picture spread in the center of this paper you'll see him with a 596 pounder taken recently off Bimini in the West Indies. He was fishing with Capt. John Cassa off the Dolphin, trolling from an outrigger when the big boy bit.

The fish is 86 pounds heavier than the marlin, Mrs. Sanborn brought to gaff in 1936 to win the world's championship for women. With the fish, Sanborn won the Flying Fishermen's Club annual trophy in the marlin division.
